Safe Food Handling Class Schedule

The CCPHC will provide classes free of charge for supervisory and basic food handling safety.

Supervisor classes are required for individuals who manage a food establishment. In addition, at least one person involved with the preparation or selling of food for fundraising, festivals, or community events must attend this class.

This class will last approximately two hours.

The Basic Food Handler Class is designed for all non-management personnel of permanent or temporary food establishments. This class will last approximately one hour.

All classes are held in the basement conference room at the CCPHC. Classes will begin promptly at 10:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. each day listed.

City of Boonville—Article 1

Section 8.3 The City Council mandates training of personnel at temporary and permanent food establishments as follows:

A. Basic Food Handler Training—No temporary or permanent food establishment shall remain open for business unless fifty percent (50%) of all food establishment personnel on duty at any time possess a Basic Food Handler Card. If the 50% trained food handler level is not attained due to employee turnover since the last offered training session, then training will be scheduled and a trained supervisory food handler will be responsible for on-site train and compliance issues until training can occur. To obtain such a card, the food establishment personnel must have attended a Basic Food Handler Safety Course (typically a two hour program) provided by the CCPHC or an equivalent training course approved by the CCPHC and provide evidence of satisfactory completion prior to the issuance of the card. The Basic Food Handler Safety Card shall be renewed every three (3) years.

B. Supervisory Food Handler Training—No person shall manage a food establishment unless such person possesses a Supervisory Food Handler Card. To obtain such a card, the person shall have attended a Supervisory Food Handler Safety Course offered or approved by the CCPHC and provide evidence of successful completion prior to the issuance of the card. In the case of newly opened food establishments operation may continue until the first date available for such food service training. The Supervisory Food Handler Safety Card shall be renewed every three (3) years.

C. Fundraising Events, Festivals and other Community Events—The training requirement will become effective on January 1, 2012 (January 1, 2013 outside of the City of Boonville) for organizations preparing or selling food for fundraising, festivals or other community events. This will allow the calendar year of 2011 (2012 for outside of the City of Boonville) to conduct outreach to these groups. Notification and education of the training requirement and schedule of training sessions will be disseminated by CCPHC and the City. The CCPHC develops a calendar for training on a yearly basis and publishes in hard copy and on their website at www.coopercountypublichealth.com

D. Food handlers at the fundraising events, festivals and other community events are all encouraged to sign up for a training class, however, only one(1) food handler or person in charge of and working the event is mandated to attend. In addition, if a food handler has received comparable training from another health department, reciprocity for the training will be recognized and credited.
